Cole's Universal Guano Distributor!

More of this style of Distributors are sold than all others combined. We call attention to the many points of superiority found in the Cole Disaributor. The WHEEL and HOPPER are strongly made and well braced. The Wheel is made of seasoned timber, two-ply cross grained, cement nailed held firmly by two flauges and three bolts. The FEED KNIVES have our peculiar pattern and arrangement for the best results. The CUT-OFF is of improved design and is controlled by a lever in easy reach of the operatas. This Lever is in rear of Hopper and protected by the handles. The SUAGE is positive, accurate and easy to set. The whole machine is a splendid example of accurate and intelligent workmanship.

The Cole Universal Planter, No. 7.

Our Universal Planter is a marvel of simplicity and efficiency. No other Planter ever invented will do an equal variety and quality of work. This Planter has the best Guano Sower yet made. It will distribute with perfect regularity any quantity from 25 to 600 pounds to the acre. It does not work up the guano into a sticky mass, but it forces out continuously just the quantity wanted. It surprises and delights the operator by the smooth, unvarying action and its great simplicity.

This is truly a Universal Planter. At one trip this Planter sows guano and plants in the most perfect manner cotton, corn, peas, peanuts, sorghum cantaloupe, beans and similar seeds. It works well on land broken fist or appear ridges. Do not drag off ridges or open a forrow for this Planter-it is a waste of time, for this Planter will do all this at the same time and run easier than any other Planter.

The Cole Universal Planter is simple, durable and thoroughly practical The depth, distance and quantity of seed are easily adjustable. It plants cotton better than any other Planter, it plants corn better than any correspondent. It is the only combination planter that plants peanuts raccessfully:

It is the greatest labor-saving and money-making Planter you can buy It is the cheapest Planter on earth.

We guarantee satisfaction to any responsible farmer who will give our Flanters a fair trial. We know that Cole Planters are the best on the marhet, A trial will convince you.

At Hymen's Altar.

The Americus (Ga.) Times-Recorder of Wednesday, 31st ult., contained the following marriage notice, which will be read with interest by the friends of the groom, who is a native of Ander-son and who has many frierds and son and who has many frierds and relatives living here:

"At high noon yesterday, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma Parramore, 221 Jackson street, Miss Lena Parramore and Mr. Guy Daniels were united in marriage. The interesting ceremony was performed by Rev. O. P. Gilbert, pastor of First Baptist church, and witnessed only by relatives of the bride and groom. The announcement of the nup'ials was received with pleasurable surprise and received with pleasurable surprise and the happy couple have rince been the recipients of sincerest congratula-

Mr. Daniels, a well-known jeweler of Newberry, S. C., came to Americus recently upon a visit to his brother, Mr. S. A. Daniels, and thus met the beautiful young woman who on yesterday he claimed as his bride. Miss Parramore was one of the most admired young ladies of the city, her beauty and grace having long sit ce made her a favorite in the social reaim, and her marriage is an occasion of much interest here. After a few days Mr. and Mrs. Daniels will go to Thomasville upon a visit to his brother, going thence to their home in Newberry to reside.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. Jane Stewart Calhoun, the eldest child of Christopher and Martha McCann Orr, born at Craytonville Anderson District, South Carolina, on the twenty-first day of October, 1820, sister of Governor Orr and Mrs. Gen. J. W. Miller, of South Carolina, and of Dr. H. C. Orr and Judge Orr, of Mississippi, and widow of Dr. W. H. Calhoun, with whom she intermarried on the 18th of July, 1837, died at the family home in Lee County, Miss., where she has resided sixty years, on Friday at 8:30 p. m., the 19th day of January, 1906, in the eighty-sixth year of her age.

She was taken with pneumonia on Monday, the 15th. On Tuesday, the 16th the symptoms were not alarming.

Monday, the 15th. On Tuesday, the 16th the symptoms were not alarming. On Wednesday danger was apparent and the irritation of the lungs caused her to pass a restless night. On Thursday, the 18th, it was quite perceptible that she was nearing the end. Her brother, Judge Orr, the only relation or acquaintance of her childhood now living, eat on the beciside holding and tenderly caressing her hand; her son, daughter, grand-daughter and other friends looking with tearful solicitude, seemed to brace her for the ordeal through which she was to pass.

Her grand-daughter, Miss Lucia Tankersly; who had been her daily companion through the last ten years of her declining life and one of her greatest solace and comforts, stood by with streaming eyes and quivering lip asked her: "Grandma, tell me once more you love me, and if I ever grieved you, won't you forgive me." She took her hand and in tones of deepest effection replied: "You know I have always loved you as my own child. I could not love you more than I do. You have been the darling of my heart. You have always been so faithful that your life has been a blessing to me. There is nothing to forget or forgive. I want you to be a good Christian and meet me in Heaven. I shall be the first to welcome you there. Do your duty as you have always done, and try to aid in guiding the other members of the family in the right way."

She then turned her eyes heaven.

She then turned her eyes h ward and prayed fervently. "Oh, my Father, bless my dear children, Cornelis and John, and my grand-child, Lucia, and each of my other grand-children, and Father bless each one in children, and Father bless each one in this room, and all of my meighbirs. Give them grace, pardon their cins, and save the precious sonts of each one. I thank Thee Hely Father for thy great mercles to me. Thou hast been kood to me all along these years of my life. Thou has heard my prayer and Thou wilt hear me now." bhe then repeated lines from different tonching spiritual hymns, so many of which she was familiar with, closing with the verse from Amazing Grace:

"And when this flesh and heart shall And when this flesh and heart shall fail,

And mortal life shall cease shall possess within the veil
A life of joy and peace."

A life of joy and peace."

Thus closing her prayer, she opened her eyes and with angelic expression exclaimed: "There is not a cloud between and my Saviour. Jesus is with me. He is here! His rod and staff do 3 m fort and austain me in this valley of death." Then clasping her hands in tones almost Divine, exclaimed, "Glory to God in the Highest, Halislujah," and on that moment of rapturous and transporting bliss, she closed her eyes never sgain to open them on the faces of loved ones or the scenes on earth and soon the Heavenly attendants in invisible charlots transported the departing saint to Him who held in waiting the crown of righteousness prepared for those who love His appearing.

The funeral services were held at Palmetto Church on Sunday. January 1818; and the edifice was filled with corrowing friends and neighbors. The Christian character of Mrs. Calhoun was beautifully drawn by the Rev. Mr. Cunningham, and a more sympathetic and interest.

was beautifully drawn by the Rev. Mr. Cunningham, and a more sympathetic audience never assembled in that church, a large portion of which was in tours, and unmistakable evidence was displayed of the high regard in which she was held by her neighbors.

At 19 o'clock all that was varily of this noble woman was laid to reat by the side of her husband.

Elsewhere we veint the advertisement of the F.S. Peter Guane Co. and call the attern of our readers to the same. The Boyater fertilizer people are the largest of the independent manufacturers remaining. These people have had a most present of the independent manufacturers remaining. These people have had a most present in their leading brand of cotton fertilizer, and we are told that its selse exceed that of any other single brand of fertilizer sold in the South. Owing to the fact that they use fish for ammoniates, their goods are popular everywhere they are sold. They claim theirs to be the original fish guano. They have large works at Norfolk, Va., Tarboro, N. C., two factories in Gould and their goods are on sale in nearly every town is the South where fertilizers are used. Our readers will find it to their interess to consider hoyster fertilizer before making their purchases.

An Old Confederate Passes Over Tie

Mr. David Lewis died suddenly on the plantation of Mr. James A. Haitey on Tuesday night, January 30, 1906. He was perhaps seventy years old. He served through the war between the States from early in '62 until the surrender, as a member of the Second South Carolina Rifles. Lave Lewis had his faults and his virtues as well. The writer knew him well on field and in camp, and can truthfully say he was a prompt and efficient soldier, brave to reckless daring. He was one soldier that actually "toted his own skillet" through the war, and brought it home with him. And that skillet has since "the cruel war was over" done duty in his kitchen. Up to a few years ago, Mr. Lewis wore a blue Yankee overcoat in cold weather that he captured on a battlefield. His environments were not of the best, nor was his life, but in the bloody days of the '60s he willingly risked it against any odds in defense of his country. Soft be the bed and sweet thy slumber, old comrade, till Gabriel's bugle blast shall wake the echoes of the resurrection morn.—Hartwell (Ga.) Sun.

Corner Creek Comments.

One month of the new year has passed by, and it seems a very short time since the holidays of 1905. January was a rainy month around here, although a very mild one. Some days seemed like springtime. Our people have not made much progress toward farming, but in the course of a few more weeke, if the weather permite, something will be doing. It is our opinion that the cotton acreage will not exceed that of last year. We trust it won't. The present prices should not increase the acreage.

Rev. D. W. Hiott delivered an excellent sermon Sunday, to a good audience at Barker's Creek. He is a splended speaker and seems to be filled with the spirit.

Wheat and cats are doing well these days, owing to the warm weather daring the month of January. There is not much wheat sown around here, as it seems it don't pay very much to sow here of late.

Our farmers are still holding on to their cotton, and will doubtions elice. One month of the new year has pass

Our farmers are still holding on to their cotton, and will doubtless cling to it for awhile yet, as the price don't seem to advance enough for them.

This is election year, and, as usual, we will no doubt have to contend with a lot of the dear fellows. We sometimes wish there were offices enough created to give them all office, but, however, they get used to defeat, and in two years are again ready to try the dear people.

Wistar Bigby, one of our energetic farmers, has recently presented himself with a lovely piano. Yes, and he is a bachelor!

The members of the Barker's Creek Church will soon have their graveyard fenced in with wire, which is certainly a commendable act. Other churches should do likewise. There are no visitors in this section and we have no sickness of a serious nature. The weather is fine and every one is busy.

Sulcide la Valdosta, Ga.

Valdosta, Ga., February 5.—After preaching to a large congregation yesterday morning, the Rev. J. G. Norton, a leading Baptist minister is this section of Georgia, went home, atc dinner and shortly afterwards committed suicide by leaping into an unused well a short distance from home. Before leaping into the well Mr. Norton tied about his neck a piece of iron weighing 150 pounds.

The body was not discovered until today. By chance his son locked into the old well and saw the object. The son was lowered there and found that the object was the body of his father. In his sermon on Sunday Mr. Norton dwelt much on the uncertainty of life, and urged the congregation to be ready for the final summons. His closing sentence was: "Prepare to meet thy God."

Mr. Norton had accumulated a modest fortune, and it is supposed that he became sfilloted with a sudden aberration of mind.

Big Sala of Fox Hounds.

Worcester, Mass., February 4.—Perty W. Smith has sold his entire pack of fox hounds, thirty in all. and received the highest price ever paid, in America at least, for a pack of fox hounds, $2,800. The buyer is John P. Townsend, master of fox hounds, of Orange County Hunt, of Goshen, N. Y., and also master of the Plains Hunt, of Virginia.

In the inventory were included several pupples that have not yet put their nose to the ground, for which an average price of $50 was obtained. For the crack hounds of the pack, Sinner, Spic, Sam, Simple and Sin, Mr. Smith received several hundred dollars each. The sale includes the fourteen hounds with which Mr. Smith beat A. Henry Higgin's pack of English hounds in Virginia.
